ABOUT OUR SPEAKERS

Art Hopkins is Vice President of Click2Bind Insurance Services, an independent insurance brokerage providing services to community associations and their members. Art brings his passion for complicated insurance risks with more than eighteen years' experience into his new role in developing a nationwide producer program with an emphasis on community associations. Art also serves as President of his own community association and has also earned his CMCA and EBP credential from CAI.

Steve Brink has represented APEX in the community association industry from 2019 to present. Steve's goal is to combine expertise and capabilities to provide solutions and value for customers in need of mitigation, restoration and construction services. Value means providing a service at a price APEX can stand behind. All successful projects require open and honest communication. Leaving the customer satisfied demands quality work and service with integrity.

Jordan Farmer, Esq., earned her Juris Doctor from California Western School of Law in 2020 where she was awarded the Academic Merit Scholarship and Dean's Diversity Scholarship. She represents community associations in transactional corporate issues, litigation and assessment collections matters.

Jordan has worked on HOA law matters since 2019 as a law clerk and legal extern. Most notably, she assisted the firm in researching and drafting a California Supreme Court brief.
